RACING AGAINST THE CLOCK

Discover how Oscar-winning flick Chariots of Fire inspired a Herne Bay teenager into writing his name into the history books in one of the country's unique sporting challenges.

BY GARETH ARNOLD

A CRISIS is engulfing the district's roads as money to carry out non-essential repairs runs dry and the cost of improving our streets runs as high as £50 million.

The state of the highways across Canterbury, Whitstable and Herne Bay has been condemned by a scrutiny panel who say lack of funding has led to a widespread drop in standards.

The draft review found that cash available to Kent Highways to pay for repairs has been decreasing steadily over the last few years, while the number of essential repairs that need to be done is rising.

These essential repairs were being done, but the money to carry out much non-essential maintenance work was simply not available.

Chairman of the scrutiny panel and Canterbury councillor Alex Perkins said: "There is a very good group of highways officers who do a good job, but they simply don't have the funds. The principal finding of the report is lack of money."

The panel says its findings are part of a wider national problem that stems from the fact that the Government froze highways maintenance grants at £2.5 billion in 2004.

Several witnesses interviewed by the panel confirmed that non-essential work could not be carried out in East Kent because there was no money to do it.

Ever stricter criteria are also being used to define 'essential repairs', so targets are still met despite increasing numbers of 'non-essential' repairs falling by the wayside.

Cllr Perkins said: "It's the accumulation that causes problems. Highways comes pretty late in terms of funding, behind education and social

Fears venue will lead to more noise

■ BY GARETH ARNOLD

FIGHTING, shouting and swearing drinkers have pushed many Orange Street householders to their wits' end as another venue – below an existing one – was granted a late licence this month.

The owners of Bramley's, a large venue underneath the Orange Street Music Club, say they want to create a low key, relaxed atmosphere with background music provided by "principally acoustic" live bands.

Members granted permission for Bramley's to stay open until 12.30am on Friday and Saturday nights, with last orders at midnight, at a licensing hearing earlier this month.

But more than 40 people living nearby objected to the application, citing noise, violence and drunkenness in the street as reason enough to turn down a fourth bar in the partly residential road.

According to one householder, Bramley's is the seventh drinking establishment in a 100 metre radius.

In a letter to the council, Juliet Morris of Orange Street said: "I regularly hear terrifying screaming by young male drunks who seem to be out of control with drunken rage, and this prevents me from going out at night for fear of who I might meet."

Madeline Jeffries, of The Friars, wrote: "As a recent illustration, the young family who lingered on the bridge to enjoy the view of Blackfriars and the Stour last Friday evening were horrified when a group of men stopped on the other side of the bridge to hold a 'who can spit the biggest and furthest into the river' competition."

Many of the objectors complained about feeling generally unsafe in

DISTURBANCE: Residents are concerned that another late licence venue will add to the anti-social behaviour in their street their homes at night due to drunks fighting, kicking their doors and shouting at each other.

But the applicants allayed members' concerns, promising to comply with a number of strict conditions that would avoid the venue adding to residents' woes.

Just three musicians would perform at one time, no drinks offers will be available, and the street outside will be cleared of rubbish.

Another condition was that live music could be played just one night a week, although recorded music would be played until closing time.

To further minimise disturbance, windows and doors of the venue have to be kept closed, and no drinks would be allowed in the smokers' courtyard at the back of the building.

To further demonstrate their good intentions, Bramley's owners passed their phone number to people living nearby, so they could be contacted if things got too loud.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Cricket coach may have ingested poison

TOXICOLOGY tests on former Kent star Bob Woolmer showed conflicting results as to whether he had ingested poison, a Jamaican forensic analyst told the inquest into his death.

Pakistan national coach Woolmer died during cricket's World Cup earlier this year. At first it was believed he had been murdered but subsequent findings indicated his death was probably due to natural causes.

Scientist Marcia Dunbar testified that evidence of a pesticide was found. The inquest continues.

What do you think about the closures?

CANTERBURY council wants to get people's views on the impact of the proposed closures of post offices.

The plans, announced earlier this month, would see five branches closed over the next 18 months. Public response is needed by November 12.

Kent County Council has launched a petition at www.kent.gov.uk/postoffice against the closures. The council suggests residents use this too.

Climate is a dramatic issue for children

HARD-HITTING issues surrounding climate change are dealt with through drama as part of a theatrical project aimed at school children.

Pupils at St Nicholas School in Canterbury have begun work on a production called A Singer from the Desert, a play written by multi award-winning author Jamila Gavin.

The production is part of the nationwide Theatrequest project.

It culminates in a production of the children's work on December 5, to be held at the Gulbenkian Theatre.

Walk in and comment on route at exhibition

PUBLIC consultation is about to start on a proposed shared pedestrian and cycle route across the countryside between Chartham and Canterbury.

An exhibition will be held at Chartham Village Hall, Station Road, on Friday and Saturday from 11am-1pm, it will remain at the hall throughout November.

Ticket hike for park and riders

Passengers may have to pay 50p extra to hop on

■ BY GARETH ARNOLD

THE cost of the city's park-and-ride service could increase by 50p across the board under new proposals put forward by the council.

Fares have remained fixed since 2003, but now escalating running costs, which transport bosses say have gone up almost 25 per cent over the last four years, have led officers to recommend a corresponding rise in ticket prices.

Under the new rules, suggested by council contractor Stagecoach, adults would pay £2.50, while children using the service will be charged £2.

These rises do not take into account a new park and ride contract in 2008, which is expected to cost significantly more than the present agreement.

These recommendations are outlined in a report which will go before the council's overview and scrutiny panel on November 1.

UN-FARE: Coach operator Stagecoach wants adults to pay £2.50 and children £2 to use the city's park-and-ride service

Officers describe the park and ride scheme as "the cornerstone of the city's traffic and transport policy", which prevents the city centre's narrow streets becoming choked with cars.

More than 28,000 people used the service between January and September this year.

The report also recommends increased charges for the Whitefriars multi-storey car park, from 70p to 80p for half an hour. This would mean a five-hour maximum stay would cost motorists £8.

The multi-story carpark was used by more than 274,000 cars in just six months, an increase of 1,000 on last year. The price hike is partly to encourage people to park in the city's other car parks.

The report said: "Parking charges are important tools that encourage drivers to park in the most appropriate place."

"They are a mechanism that enables the council to deliver an efficient and responsive service in the context of demand and strategic policy aims."

Canterbury represents around 89 per cent of the council's car parking revenue, with the coastal towns accounting for less than 11 per cent of the total.

Parking charges bring in an estimated £587,000 a year, with the vast majority of the cash coming from Canterbury's park and ride schemes.

Road works not working services, which is of course as it should be, but if you don't repair a small crack in the pavement, it turns into a big crack and deteriorates further and further until you have a big problem."

Even more concerning, the Local Government Association says it needs an extra £200 million a year just to maintain the current standard of work.

Repairs to the district's roads and pavements are estimated at £50 million.

Road markings are one example of maintenance work not getting done. The panel heard from witnesses who said there was no money to repaint markings on principle roads, such as the practically invisible box junction at the exit from St George's Place in Canterbury.

The standard of repairs is also called into question by the report, which claims patching holes in roads with asphalt was no replacement for properly excavating and relaying the damaged section.

The report said: "If repairs were done to a sufficient standard, they could be regarded as permanent."

New building a £30m boost for university

DEMOLITION work will begin on Monday of a former 1970s office block which will pave the way for a new £30 million building for Christ Church University.

The university's vice chancellor, professor Michael Wright, and the Lord Mayor of Canterbury, Cyril Windsor, will board a JCB and perform the symbolic first strike to the former Clarkson House on Rhodas Town, which will officially signal the go-ahead for a major 13-week demolition project.

Once the building is demolished, the university will embark on the construction of Augustine House, a new £30 million library and learning resource centre in its place, which is due for completion in autumn 2009.

The new Augustine House will provide a state-of-the-art integrated library, learning resource centre and student support facilities in the heart of the city of Canterbury.

It will feature a café; two garden terraces; an atrium; and multi-purpose floor space for public events, conferences, exams, teaching and exhibitions.

Why weather is smashing pumpkin sales

■ BY SIMON ROBINSON

THE summer's wet weather may lead to a Halloween wash-out, with pumpkin stocks already running low ahead of tonight's annual celebrations.

Heavy rainfall in June and July left the UK's farms water-logged for much of the summer months, badly affecting the growth of pumpkins, squashes and other autumn fruits.

Stocks are down nationwide, with pumpkins either rotting in the soil or left with a gaunt green glow by the lack of summer sunshine.

It is feared the unrelenting rainfall will leave shops struggling to meet demand for the bulbous orange fruits, used to make eerie lanterns as part of Halloween celebrations.

With supermarkets selling out early, prices are expected to soar.

Producer Joan Attwood, from Thrognall Farm, Sittingbourne, said this summer was her farm's first crop failure.

The farmer, who sells her fruit at markets in Canterbury and London, said: "Our pumpkins simply did not germinate this year."

"It was far too wet this summer and so we haven't got a good crop at all. What few pumpkins did grow have not made much in size."

"Our ones did turn orange, though. I know a lot of other farmers' pumpkins are still green."

"It's disappointing as we've always had a good crop of pumpkins and always grown a lot. Last year it was extremely hot and so our pumpkins did very well, but this year, hardly anything."

"It's such a shame as I would have thought there will now be a shortage of pumpkins at Halloween."

"I just hope everything goes back to normal next year."

NEWS IN BRIEFExhibition brightens up
K&C hospital restaurant

ART students' work was brightening the walls of The Spice of Life restaurant at Kent and Canterbury hospital last week.

The fine art, graphic design and advertising students from Canterbury College put together an exhibition including painting and photography, which was displayed at the hospital eatery on show to thousands of staff and patients.

Hospital manager Mark Davison hoped the exhibition would improve the atmosphere for people staying at or visiting the hospital.

Fenwicks' in the pink to raise money for charity

STAFF and customers of a top city store helped raise £285 for Breast Cancer Campaign's Wear It Pink Day on Friday.

Fenwicks in Whitefriars collected cash throughout the day, with staff donating £2 each to wear something pink.

The money raised will go towards funding research to improve diagnosis and treatment of breast cancer and better understanding how it develops.

Over the last 12 years the charity has spent more than £18.5 million on research.

Police call for vigilance
after livery yard theft

HORSE owners have been warned to double-check the security of buildings used to keep riding gear after several thefts.

Police have asked people to report any suspicious callers or vehicles near their stables or yards after thieves struck a livery yard near Barham on October 22. The burglars broke into a tack room and stole thousands of pounds worth of equipment.

Other horse owners in the Faversham and Folkestone areas have reported trailers and horse boxes being tampered with.

All that glistens is not gold – so watch out!

FAKE gold jewellery is on sale in Herne Bay according to police who are warning people to be on their guard.

The suspect bling, mostly large rings, is sold as gold, but when taken to a jeweller, turns out to be nothing more expensive than brass.

Herne Bay town centre officer PC Kevin O'Rourke said: "We have had four incidents reported over the last couple of months.

"Follow your instinct – if the price appears too good to be true, then without a doubt it is."

Film inspired teen to break college record
Sam courts
2012 after record run

A TEENAGER from Herne Bay has written himself into the record books after beating the record for a race immortalised in the Oscar-winning movie Chariots of Fire.

Student Sam Dobin, 19, from High View Avenue, succeeded in running around the courtyard of Trinity College at Cambridge University, in 42.77 seconds – less time than it takes the nearby clock to strike 12 chimes twice to signal midday.

And now the young star, whose efforts made headlines around the world, is looking to channel his talents into making it into the London 2012 Olympic Games.

The traditional run in the grounds of the famous college formed part of the film Chariots of Fire in which a fictional race between 1924 Olympic heroes Eric Liddle and Harold Abrahams took place.

His run beat the previous record for the Great

Court Run – set by Lord Burghley in 1927.

Mr Dobin, who is reading economics, now wants to run the 800 and 1,500 metres in the London Olympics.

But it was the film which inspired the teenager, who has aspirations to become a Conservative MP, to get into the college.

He told The Times newspaper: "It's why I applied to Trinity. When I went round the colleges choosing which one to apply to I stood on the lines of the Great Court and thought 'wow'. "It's really surreal. I don't know how it happened. I've only been training for five weeks.

"It's really motivating – it's inspired me to go from here to 2012."

Mr Dobin had earlier been deciding whether to actually attempt the run as he had a slight injury to his ankle.

Another person who has performed the feat is former Olympic gold medalist Sebastian

RUNNING MAN: Sam Dobin, from Herne Bay, broke the 80-year-old Great Court Run record set by Lord Burghley

Coe. However his achievement has never been formally recognised by the college.

But he still found time to congratulate Sam on a "fantastic and very rare achievement".

A spokesman for the college said: "He beat the previous record by 0.83 seconds. To run the distance of 367 metres in just over 40 seconds is a great achievement. He joins a very select band in – quite literally – beating the clock."

Professor Kevin Gray, Dean of Trinity College, described the run as "a tremendous achievement and a rare moment in Trinity's history".

Council fighting for ailing resorts

GOVERNMENT indifference to the plight of coastal towns like Herne Bay (pictured) has prompted Canterbury council to push for action in regenerating ailing resorts.

The council has joined the Coastal Communities Group, an alliance of local authorities who plan to hit back at the Government for ignoring redevelopment recommendations put forward by the community and local government select committee on coastal towns.

The group put their findings to the Government in March after spending several months collating evidence. The final report included 33 suggestions, most of which were dismissed in May 2007.

Leader of Canterbury council, John Gilbey, said: "We think it's about time the Government accepted that, while also offering great opportunities for visitors and residents alike, coastal towns face significant, deep-rooted problems that won't just go away. We need to work together to make our coastal towns the best they can be."

A key meeting with Dr Phyllis Starkey, the chair of the select committee, and other MPs is set for November 7 at the House of Commons.

Canterbury council would like to see Herne Bay follow in the footsteps of Whitstable and Brighton, areas that have both enjoyed prosperity in recent years while other coastal resorts lag behind.

CARTOON CAPERS: One of the entries to find a new road safety character submitted as part of next week's Anifest

School kids animated by new festival

NEXT week's Anifest has already inspired the next generation of artists to build on Canterbury's stop-frame heritage according to Faversham animator Dan Richards.

Mr Richards, who at just 25 already has an internationally acclaimed animated film under his belt, is thrilled at the passion shown by schoolchildren in the run-up to November 3 – the date of Canterbury's first animation festival.

The event will see dozens of short film screenings, seminars from industry professionals and an awards ceremony. Students at primary and secondary schools in the city have also been working on their own projects with Mr Richards' expert assistance.

Shortlisted

Mr Richards said: "It's been a massive success. Two schools have started up animation clubs and two sixth formers even changed their university degree from drama and performing arts because they were so desperate to do animation at Christ Church."

A total of 65 pupils took part in film-making and design work, with secondary school students taking a three-day workshop to produce a short animated film.

■ BY GARETH ARNOLD

Their enthusiasm has paid off with one film being shortlisted, along with just 23 others in an international film competition run by Friends of the Earth.

This and other productions will be shown to the public at the Gulbenkian Theatre as part of the festival.

Mr Richards said: "Everyone loves to watch films and to get the chance to see their own work up on the big screen at the Gulbenkian will be a fantastic experience for them."

Several local universities and colleges in the district offer animation courses covering everything from stop motion to CGI (computer generated imagery).

Mr Richards said: "We didn't want to aim it just at students of animation, so I've done a lot of work with local schools to open the festival up to the community."

"We had a lot of kids that were struggling, that may not have been the best academically, but had really creative minds and came up with the ideas to make it work."

Kent County Council has already doubled the funding for next year.

Wills pays respects in city to his army 'mentor'

PRINCE William came to Canterbury last Wednesday to pay his respects to a man he described as his "mentor".

The prince was at the city's cathedral for the funeral of Major Alexis Roberts, 32, who was killed in a bomb blast in Afghanistan earlier this month.

Major Roberts was Prince William's former platoon commander during his training at Sandhurst.

It was led jointly by the Dean of Canterbury Robert Willis and Rev Paul Wright, an army chaplain who until this month had been based at St Mary-in-Castro church in Dover Castle.

Speaking shortly after his death, Prince William said he was "deeply saddened" by Major Roberts' death, and described him as a good friend and mentor.

Major Roberts, a married father of two young daughters, was usually an officer with the 2nd Battalion Royal Gurkha Rifles based at Shorncliffe Barracks in Folkestone.

At the time of his death he was serving with the Brunei-based 1st Battalion.

Man admits driving van straight into oncoming car

CARELESS carpenter Wayne Oxford was nailed for driving sloppily after he ignored a junction and smashed headlong into car.

Oxford, 30, of Sea View Road, Herne Bay was fined £250, given five penalty points and ordered to pay a £15 tariff plus £45 costs after he admitted careless driving at Canterbury Magistrates Court.

Chris Mayo, prosecuting, said Oxford drove his van straight across the junction of East Street and Mortimer Street, Herne Bay, hitting an oncoming car before crashing into a parked Range Rover Discovery.

Lulu is given Westminster Dog of the Year Award

MP ROGER Gale's eight-and-a-half stone Newfoundland Lulu has been presented with an outstanding achievement award by the Kennel Club.

The massive dog received the award at the final of the Westminster Dog of the Year presentations.

Mr Gale, MP for Thanet North and Herne Bay said: "I think that it is a mark of the affection in which she is held by the foremost national organisations."

Lulu has collected funds for the St. John Ambulance, the Red Cross, Guide Dogs for the Blind, the RNLI and other human and animal charities.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Down-and-out caught stealing 24 cans of beer

HEAVY drinker Andrew Gilbert, 21, found himself on the streets after falling out with his family so he resorted to stealing, Canterbury magistrates heard.

Gilbert, formerly of Faversham but now of no fixed abode, was caught trying to steal 24 cans of Stella Artois beer from the Canterbury branch of Sainsbury's on October 21.

He was caught outside the store in Kingsmead with the beer, worth £10, still on him.

Ian Bond, defending, said Gilbert suffered from a mild form of autism and had gone downhill since losing a job as a block paver.

Gilbert was given a three-month conditional discharge and ordered to pay £45 costs.

Singer-songwriter takes to stage at Orange St

POLITICAL folk rocker Chris T-T is playing the Orange Street Music Club this Saturday.

The acclaimed solo artist, championed by the likes of NME, Rolling Stone and Q, has just finished a national tour with world-famous folk outfit Bellowhead and has recently supported Broken Family Band and Carter USM.

Now the Brighton-based singer-songwriter is embarking on his own headline tour to promote his next EP This Is Not A Gun, released on Xtra Mile Recordings on November 19.

Chris T-T has made a name for himself on the folk-rock scene penning modern tales of urban decay, prejudice and fear, shot through with acerbic humour.

QUESTION & ANSWER

KLARE KENNETT

Q How did you get involved with the RSPCA?

A My background is journalism, but I have also always been passionate about animal welfare. When I saw the RSPCA role advertised it seemed like the ideal job for me. I am able to use my knowledge of the media to help promote kindness to animals and prevent cruelty.

Q Have people's attitude towards animal welfare improved or worsened in recent years?

A In many ways, attitudes towards animal welfare have improved in recent years. For a start, according to an RSPCA report published this month measuring the state of animal welfare in the UK, the proportion of people who feel for a society to be truly civilised animal welfare must be a key priority, has leapt from 54 per cent to 73 per cent in the last year.

We also know six out of 10 people think supermarkets should stop selling eggs laid by hens in cages but more than six out of 10 eggs still come from hens kept in this way, so there is plenty of room for improvement there.

There has been a huge increase in the number of meat chickens raised to higher-welfare standards, quadrupling from 10 million in 2004 to more than 40 million this year. However, this is still less than five per cent of the market.

We see that as few as one in five pet shops selling 'exotic' animals such as snakes and primates offer free written information to customers. People buying pets have a legal responsibility to look after them properly, and accessible information from pet shops would help them do this.

Good news is that the number of wild-caught birds imported into the EU has plummeted from 72,000 in 2003 to 11 last year, following a recent ban. But the number of wild-caught reptiles imported has increased from 11,000 to 18,400 which is worrying.

Q What single practice would you like to see banned?

A I would like to see the extremely cruel and disturbing practice of using primates for research to be banned immediately. We are slowly getting that way, as in the past few weeks MEPs categorically backed a call to bring an end to the use of primates in research.

In the 21st century there should be no room for experimenting on primates. We know these animals are highly intelligent and they can suffer in very similar ways to humans.

There should be new laws which include a clear strategy for replacing primates with humane alternatives.

Q What is the biggest challenge facing the world at present?

A Achieving world peace and seeing an end to poverty and famine. It is incredible that world travel is so accessible to most of the developed world, but still so many people living on this planet are starving to death. A huge challenge facing the world is the issue of cruelty and research has shown people who are cruel to each other and carry out vicious attacks on humans often begin with animals.

Q Is there anything we can do about it?

A I believe that world peace begins at home and if we start of being kinder to each other then we have taken the first important step towards world peace. An act of kindness can make all the difference in the world to someone's day and such acts cause a ripple effect. A thoughtless, cruel, remark can hurt badly and have a negative, ripple effect. Tiny changes, but if we all thought more about the effect of our actions on other people then we would not consider waging war on them.

In terms of poverty and famine, it is obscene that so much food is thrown away every day when so many people are starving to death.

In terms of cruelty, the RSPCA is working hard to get the message of kindness, not cruelty, to every schoolchild in this country through our education programme.

Q How big do you think your carbon footprint is?

A I walk wherever I can rather than use the car and try to conserve energy at home as much as possible and I recycle everything I can religiously. I also buy local produce as much as possible.

Investment helps beat off the credit crunch

■ BY SIMON ROBINSON

REGENERATION and expansion projects across Kent have helped stave off a disastrous 'credit crunch' – leaving the county's property market in a healthy condition.

The positive outlook was presented in the annual Kent Property Market Report, unveiled at a breakfast event at the new Princes Park stadium in Dartford.

The report noted the effect of town redevelopment schemes and increased transport links across the county.

It is thought such investment in the county has kept Kent's medium- to long-term prospects stable in the face of global concerns over the build-up of debt in the UK and America.

Opening the breakfast meeting on Thursday, the county council's regeneration chief, Roger Gough, said: "The regeneration across Kent is providing a major boost to the county."

"There are also many more developments planned, including transport links that will open Kent up to the wider national and international markets."

"This report highlights the progress being made and the potential going forward. Working with organisations such as Locate in Kent, we are committed to helping businesses maximise the potential of the area and seize the opportunities presented in the coming years."

The report suggests that the billion-pound investment in Kent's major redevelopment projects had filtered through to smaller businesses.

At Chatham Maritime two office buildings were sold for more than £20 million; in Ashford, Quadrant Estates completed the office development of Northdown at Eureka Park with almost 1,600 sq m sold; and the expanding Kings Hill site at West Malling

PLATFORM: The imminent opening of Ebbsfleet international station will make Kent more accessible to London and the Continent experienced a flurry of activity, with almost 20,000 sq m of transactions agreed.

Established business parks across the county have seen considerable expansion, while office rental growth as a whole has maintained a stable position compared with elsewhere in the South East during the last 10 years.

Bill Siegle, the head of Cluttons commercial division, which presented the report, said: "Transport links and developments in the Thames Gateway have been the catalysts for the area's regeneration and we are seeing good levels of investment across the county."

"Developments at business parks including Chatham Maritime and Eureka Park in Ashford, and new facilities in Folkestone, Dover and Margate are just a handful of examples. These are exciting times for Kent."

Survival

Paul Wookey, chief executive of Locate in Kent, said: "Growth in employees in Kent between 1998 and 2005 was more than 15 per cent, compared with 9.8 per cent in the South East and 8.8 per cent in the UK."

"VAT registrations in Kent are above South East and UK figures, as are survival rates of new companies."

"The report shows there is a good supply of office space at affordable prices. We expect the demand for offices to increase – and we are ready and able to service this demand."

Increased transport links will further stabilise the property market by making Kent more accessible to both London and the Continent.

The imminent opening of Ebbsfleet international station will launch new services across the South East and beyond.

With the start of new high-speed domestic services in 2009, it will take just 17 minutes to travel from Ebbsfleet international to London St Pancras, 37 minutes from Ashford, and just over an hour from Folkestone to the City.

The level of business activity has had a knock-on effect in the retail, leisure and tourism sectors, with spending steadily improving throughout 2006 and into this year.

Developments in these areas are under way, with plans for hotels to be built in Folkestone, Canterbury and Rochester; a leisure complex at Westwood Cross in Thanet which includes a cinema, bingo and casino centre; and new restaurants and a mixed-use development at Folkestone harbour.

Simple measures to help keep your children safe

ROAD safety chiefs have urged parents to warn their children of the increased danger of walking or cycling as the evenings get darker.

Ringway, Kent County Council's highways maintenance company, said youngsters should always wear or carry something bright which will show up in car headlights now that the clocks have gone back.

Dave Campbell, the company's health and safety manager, said: "The autumn and winter months are traditionally the times of year when the number of road accidents involving children peaks. There are a number of very simple measures children can take to ensure their safety – the most basic of which is to ensure that can easily be seen in the dark or bad weather."

He added that they should also always use pedestrian and zebra crossings, subways and footbridges – as children often cross in dangerous places rather than walk a few extra metres to a dedicated crossing.

Mr Campbell said: "Councils invest significant amounts of money in installing and maintaining crossings close to schools and it is vital that children understand the importance of using them to protect themselves."

Ringway is offering free reflective wristbands to our readers. Phone Steve Kidd on 01403 215859, or email info@ringway.co.uk.

KCC media man to leave after 27 years of service

KENT County Council's most senior media advisor, Gerry Moore, has announced he is leaving the authority after 27 years in his post.

The corporate communications manager said: "After nearly three decades with the county council I have decided it is time to look for a fresh challenge."

Mr Moore, 55, who lives near Ashford, worked very closely with Lord Bruce-Lockhart during his leadership of KCC but denied his departure was due to personality clashes with the new regime at County Hall under Paul Carter.

The authority appointed a new deputy to Mr Moore earlier this year – Marcus Chrysostomou, who had worked with Alastair Campbell at the Downing Street press office.

CANTERBURY SHOPPING

Wing your way to one very interesting shop

IF you are looking for a heavenly gift, you might find something special in Angels.

The shop in St Margarets Street, Canterbury, has been established for 10 years and offers a diverse range of women's clothing, shoes, jewellery and gifts.

There is even a whole floor dedicated to bridal gowns and all the trimmings.

Described as one of the city's most interesting shops, Angels has a body piercing service and sells a variety of body jewellery.

Supermarket to slash prices for Christmas

ASDA hopes to cash in on the usual Christmas shopping frenzy by lowering its prices.

Consumers in the UK are expected to spend more than £11.8 billion in the run-up to this year's festivities, but research shows most households are actually tightening their belts at this time of year.

So the supermarket chain is slashing the cost of Christmas essentials, including groceries, clothing, toys and gifts.

Football Manager 2008 puts you to the test

WANT to follow in the footsteps of Alex Ferguson, Arsene Wenger and Jose Mourinho? Then get braced for the latest instalment of the perennially popular Football Manager franchise.

The 2008 version of the award-winner hit the shelves in recent days with stores across the district looking to lure shoppers in to snap up the highly addictive game.

With a recommended retail price of £29.99 it's worth shopping around for the best deal.

Get Both Barrels From Brazil at Waterstone's

FOOTBALL and broadcasting legend Alan Brazil will be appearing at Bluewater on Thursday, November 8.

He will be signing copies of his hilarious new book, Both Barrels From Brazil: My War Against The Numpties, at Waterstone's from 6pm to 7pm. It's the follow-up to last year's bestseller There's An Awful Lot of Bubbly in Brazil.

If you can't make the signing, you can reserve a signed copy by calling the store on 01322 624831.

Campaign designed to make a 'green' impact

SUPERMARKET giant Tesco is hoping a new push to highlight its green credentials will help boost trade further.

Its Greener Living campaign on its official website highlights what it is doing in order to protect the environment as well as passing on useful tips and hints to its customers.

The site also includes activities for parents to share with their children to ensure the next generation think about the world around them. Access the site at www.tesco.com/greenerliving.

Backchat

with Dr. Christian Farthing at the Ideal Spine Centre, Canterbury

Did you get your £1,500 cheque?

In February 2007, BBC 4 televised a show called 'Dispatches' questioning where all the money goes in our NHS.

Statistics have shown us that the NHS spends an average of £1,500 per year on every man, woman and child in the UK. I don't know about you, but I have not seen my £1,500 for the past seven years since I moved from Australia to Canterbury in 2000. Upon asking many of my healthy patients, they haven't had £1,500 of services from the NHS either!

There is a National deficit in excess £3 billion and the problem is just getting worse. Most people close their eyes and think "that doesn't affect me". Well, the truth is, it does: either in taxes, treatment, mistakes or in injury. We have a problem that is so big, that most people leave it in the hands of the politicians. The solution is so obvious, but unfortunately for the politicians, it is an 'inconvenient truth'.

Just imagine if the government gave each and every one of us £1,500 each year to spend on our health. We would have a wellness explosion! More people could afford a gym membership, to go on health experiences like health days, buy fresh produce from their local farm shops instead of buying packet food and poor quality produce from mass produced food chains, buy water filters to be able to drink a clean water source, have regular preventative spine and health checkups and take more regular stress free holidays.

What would our town look like? Gyms filled, swimming pools, sauna and spa facilities would be in great demand, more wellness doctors teaching people about health and keeping you well, without the use of drugs and surgery!

Just imagine...

On the other side of town, hospital beds would be empty and the few people with life threatening diseases and emergencies would be treated quickly and efficiently. This would be a first...enough beds! Medical practices would be quiet and if you had a serious problem, you could easily get in on the day. Imagine not having to call first thing in the morning and hope for an appointment.

Just imagine...

There would be less people killed as a result of medical error because less people would go to the medical doctor because they would be kept well by seeing new age wellness doctors who are not interested in the profits of the pharmaceutical companies, but in the people and their families' wellbeing. The great principled medical specialists who save lives will do their jobs with less stress and make a lot less mistakes. People will be served as people and not as a number. You will be seen because you need it, not just to fulfil government targets.

Just imagine...

An average 300 people die each day due to errors made by medicine. That is what happens each and every day in the UK. That number has increased in the past five years to make medicine the leading cause of death in the UK after heart disease and cancer. The question is, if we keep using medicine as our health solution, how long will it take for it to be the No.1 preventable cause of death?

To add to an already serious problem, mistakes cost the NHS an additional £730 million each year! So, to get well and stay well, medicine may be good for an emergency (if you are lucky), but definitely no good for your future wellness. Speak to your Wellness Doctor first, not last!

During the month of November our family practice is providing free spine and posture health checks for families. The first 50 callers will also receive a copy of my most recent book to help understand the secrets to better health, naturally. We look forward to helping you.

Win a pair of tickets to the Look Good Feel Good Show

WITH the winter drawing in, suntans fading and Christmas looming, the feel-good factor is fast dwindling away.

But that needn't be the case as the Look Good Feel Good show in Chatham on Saturday and Sunday, November 17-18, organised by KOS Media, has the solution... in fact, it has hundreds of solutions supplied by more than 100 exhibitors.

And you can be there for free by winning one of 10 pairs of tickets we have to give away.

This brand new show will take place at Big Blue, Chatham, opposite St Mary's Island and a short walk from Dickens World, and the Dockside Outlet Centre.

Look Good Feel Good will cover a wide range of subjects including fashion, jewellery, hair, beauty, fitness, health and well-being, plus an exceptional food hall offering a wide variety of delicacies and much more besides.

Over the two days there will be demonstrations, entertainment, free samples, competitions, a host of Christmas ideas, as well as a special zone for the children which will include a magician and face painting.

Admission is only £3.50, and free for children 14 and under; there is also ample parking.

We are offering the chance to win 10 pairs of tickets for both days of the show.

To enter, simply answer the question below and send your entry on a postcard along with your email address (if applicable), name, address, and daytime telephone number to Look Good Feel Good competition, KOS Media, Apple Barn, Smeeth, Ashford, Kent, TN25 6SR. Closing Date is November 12, 2007.

QUESTION: In what Kent town is the Look Good Feel Good Show taking place?

You can also text your answer to 81800, by sending LGFG, followed by a space, the answer, a space and your name and address.

Messages cost 25p plus standard network charges. The service is provided by g8wave London N7.

Each week we get a mystery writer to air their views on living in and around Canterbury...

Don't be too scared of our teenage werewolves

LAST week, this newspaper printed a letter, written in response to the previous week's blog, which argued the Bishop of Bolton had a point about the corrupting effect of Halloween.

The letter, by Clive Wilkins-Oppler of Canterbury, was passionately argued, and in the interest of healthy debate, here is a reprise.

In his letter, Mr Wilkins-Oppler wrote: "Today, little children inappropriately wear masks from the slasher film Scream (an 18 certificate movie about a knife-wielding serial-killer) to celebrate Halloween.

"There are also a variety of witch and werewolf masks available which have realistic eyes filled with demonic hatred."

He asks whether this is the harmless fun it is portrayed as, or something more sinister?

The subject of whether violent films and images affect children is one that raises its head every few months with studies on both sides drawing a variety of conflicting conclusions.

But like so many controversial issues, shouldn't we draw first and foremost from our own experience before deciding that dressing up as a werewolf leads to a life of crime?

Despite what the Daily Mail would have us believe, the vast majority of children and teenagers are nice, rational people. If Halloween is having a damaging effect, I'd expect a significantly higher proportion of axe-wielding maniacs, possibly accompanied by minor chords stabbed on a piano.

This, thankfully, is simply not the case.

Of course, there have been a few tragic examples of children committing some truly brutal crimes, but this is far from the norm.

I take issue with Mr Wilkins-Oppler's assertion that there is "a huge problem with some children committing acts of extreme brutality" when most kids never do anything worse than bunk off school and cough their way through a packet of fags behind the bike sheds.

Mr Wilkins-Oppler also decrees that "a benevolent, civilized society is dependent upon the unavailability of that which is corrupting".

Morality is not black and white, and one person's idea of corruption is another's top night out. As long as we live in a democracy with free speech, this will always be the way.

So we cannot control corrupting influences in our society, but we can bring children up knowing the difference between right and wrong. If that is instilled from an early age, it will take more than a werewolf mask to undo it.

I agree with Mr Wilkins-Oppler that evil should not be trivialised, but let's not bandy the term around. If the church wants to play a part in reducing the number of kids who turn to crime, concentrating on the issues that really matter is a good start.

TALK TIME

PAULA SPENCER

The manager of the Thanington Resource Centre which has been at the forefront of improving life on what was a problem estate.

What's your role in the community?

We have been open for seven years for the benefit of people on Thanington Estate. My staff are all local people and the centre is run by the residents. Since we opened in October, 2000, we started many activities including a youth club, homework club, mother and toddler group and a baby clinic, all from local people's suggestions.

What do you put down the centre's success to?

We are a success because we are run by and 'owned' by the local people. Because local people want to get involved crime is down on the estate by 50 per cent. We have tapped into a community spirit in Thanington and people want to be involved. An example of the community spirit was when two youths set fire to our building not long after we opened and local people came forward to help in their droves. Last year we were asked to log the number of visits to use our facilities and it came to a staggering 46,000 for the 12-month period.

What's the best and worst of your job?

The best bit is working with the staff, volunteers and people who use the centre from the estate. It is a wonderful place to work – it must be as I travel nearly four hours a day to get here. The worst is never knowing if we'll survive from one year to the next. We are a charity but we are not a fashionable one. If the centre closes the estate will inevitably return to previous levels of crime and anti-social behaviour when it was known as Little Beirut.

YOUR LETTERS

Please give us a real reason to celebrate

I read with interest your article about the new work on the Canterbury West station and the benefit it will have for the St Stephen's level crossing.

But surely the real benefit to the city would be doing something about the crossing on St Dunstan's Street. That is a key artery for motorists to get into the city and it constantly results in a snarl-up.

Now if they could sort that out as well there really would be reason to celebrate.

Why words 'climate change' are missing

There is a very simple explanation for the absence of the words 'climate change' in Canterbury council's literature and on its website.

The council leader, John Gilbey (Conservative), recently specifically instructed council officers to remove the term 'climate change' from some of the council's key policy and strategy documents.

This is because he simply does not believe that climate change is a man-made or man-enhanced problem so does not want it referred to. A shocking stance for anyone to take I would have thought. Especially a council leader!

I think you might agree this rather makes a nonsense of the Conservative Party's mantra 'Vote Blue – Go Green!'

I should add that his stance on this has been vigorously attacked

It is not that long ago that the Conservative cabinet member with responsibility for environmental issues at Canterbury council had to be reprimanded for polluting local streets by burning piles of waste in her garden.

Laziness is a threat to children's safety

Thank goodness the police are finally doing something about inconsiderate parents parking outside schools.

I am sick of death of seeing lazy mums and dads dropping their children off – frequently on the yellow zig-zags – with scant regard for the danger they are putting other pupils in.

Police should start patrols across the entire area's schools and start dishing out fines. A £30 fine is little to pay compared to the life of a child.

young Joe Denly's remarkable achievements with the bat for Kent this season.

In another season of mediocrity in the four-day game he has been a shining light and I'm sure everyone connected to the game of cricket in the county are united in hoping he will make it into the full England Test team sooner rather than later.

My only fear is that too much pressure is put on his young shoulders at such an early stage of his career.

Cultural shut down is around the corner

While pleased to hear the Beaney Institute is to undergo a major overhaul, I do wonder slightly what will happen to the city in 2009.

Culturally, we will become something of a wasteland, with the Marlowe Theatre closed for refurbishment and the city's main library and museum also shut for business.

What next, the cinema closing down for a rebuild?

Fears for future of sports coaching

There seems to be some sort of unity happening in the judo world.

I refer to the fact that the British Judo Association has now opened their doors to all judoka regardless of affiliation.

This has been a bold move, but it has also been a move born out of necessity, as judo in the UK is in rapid decline and unity is the only way for it to survive.

This brings me on to the subject of the United Kingdom Coaching Certificate (UKCC).

This organisation has been set up to introduce some conformity and regulation within British sport, which hopefully will improve sports coaching throughout the UK.

This to some is quite a novel idea, but is not really a new concept because Great Britain judo coach Geoff Gleeson some 30 years ago formed the British Association of National Coaches, where coaches from all sports came to together to share their knowledge and experiences.

When this folded Geoff and I formed the Academy of Coaching, some of the members the AOC went on to form the Guild of Sports Internationalists, sad to say both are now defunct.

So as you can see I am all in favour of improving our coaching skills, but there are several things that worry me:

1. The price!

Although judo is under-priced and under-valued, I wonder if the proposed pricing structure is just 'the straw that broke the camel's back'.

Some £200 for level one plus 30 hours learning requirement, level two £400 and 88 hours learning requirement, level three in excess of £800 plus 307 hours learning requirement.

These figures are taken from an article written by Dave Duffy BJA National Coaching Officer.

To be fair to the BJA they are looking for organisations to help fund this new UKCC, but what if they cannot get any help, can small judo clubs of 20 members afford this?

I have my doubts.

2. What of grandfather rights (this is where people who have coached for many years are given the award).

I personally started coaching when I was 19 years old and that is a total 38 years.

Does all that experience amount to nothing?

For me personally I am not worried as due to injury I do very little coaching, but I know of hundreds if not thousands of judoka who have given up their time, effort and in many cases their money to teach and promote judo.

Can we afford to lose them? I don't think so.

3. Some people want the UKCC to become a legal requirement to coach and the way this Government is obsessed with bringing in laws to control every aspect of our lives this could happen.

The UKCC will affect all sports coaches.

Hopefully I am wrong and the idea becomes a symbol of light for judo and sport in general.

Yet one wonders with the rapid decline of participation in sport in the UK, shouldn't we be trying to promote it rather than putting up obstacles.

Sport in the UK has relied on those volunteers who are prepared to help without any pay or reward. Will the United Kingdom Coaching Certificate stop this?

That is up to you to decide.

From a role in the nation's favourite soap to the iconic Sybil Fawlty, Prunella Scales has endeared herself to the British public

Street paved way for success

ONE of Prunella Scales' earliest ambitions as an actress was to land a hunky love interest in Coronation Street.

Since then she has become one of Britain's best loved and most talented performers, but Scales still remembers those early days in the 1960s.

"I was in two episodes very early on, playing a bus conductress," she recalled. "I hoped my character would get Harry Hewitt as a boyfriend, but she didn't."

Failing to win Harry's affections might have been a good thing for the young lady as he was later crushed to death by a van. It certainly didn't affect Scales' career and she has never looked back since treading the famous cobbles.

Born in Surrey in June 1932, Prunella Margaret Rumney Illingworth was classically trained at the Old Vic Theatre School in London and the Herbert Berghof Studio in New York.

Her prolific career has spanned television, radio, film and theatre. She won the Patricia Rothermere Award at the 2001 London Evening Standard Theatre Awards and was awarded the CBE for

GERTRUDE'S SECRET

Sunday, November 11
Trinity Theatre, Tunbridge Wells

services to drama in 1992.

Her latest theatre role sees Scales playing the title character in Gertrude's Secret, a collection of monologues by Benedick West. Gertrude is waiting for her daughter to call on her birthday, but her offspring is likely to get more than she bargained for.

Scales said: "Benedick is my cousin once removed by marriage, but that doesn't have anything to do with it. I would have done it anyway because it's very clever."

"The monologues are all ingenious and entertaining. It's quite funny and, I think, quite frightening."

Audiences were hugely tickled by arguably Scales' most famous character, the unforgettable Sybil Fawlty. As John her place in the comedy hall of fame.

Cleese's nagging wife in the beloved BBC show Fawlty Towers, Scales booked

More than 30 years after the two series were first broadcast she could have grown tired of talking about Sybil. But Fawlty Towers still has a place in her heart.

"I'm very proud and grateful to it. The lovely thing about Fawlty Towers is that when you look at it again, it hasn't lost speed," she said.

Better still, as far as Scales was concerned, it raised awareness of her work in the theatre.

She said: "If the British public have enjoyed you on television it can be a great advantage. When you've been in a popular show they remember you and will actually take the giant step from the pavement into the theatre."

She has been married to fellow actor Timothy West for 45 years and they have two sons, Samuel and Joe. Samuel has also entered the thespian world and will have received the advice Scales would offer to any young actor.

"You always tell them to save a third of what they earn," she said. "Then they can pay the mortgage, but it also gives them the chance to turn down bad work."

Gertrude's Secret starts at 8pm and tickets cost £15/£12. To book, call the box office on 01892 678678 or visit www.trinitytheatre.net.

THE lives of a group of ordinary people, trapped within their own identities, are exposed in an innovative production.

Beside Herself, written by Sarah Daniels, is presented by T:24 – drama society of the University of Kent.

Described as humorous, haunting and harrowing, the play brings together difficult realities through the corrupted child Eve.

Until now, Eve had remained a distant memory of Evelyn's youth. But when confronted with the reality behind the mask, the baggage of love, loss and abuse

CANTERBURY ANIFEST

Saturday, November 3
Gulbenkian Theatre and Cinema, Canterbury

A CELEBRATION of Kent's animation heritage and future will be taking place during the county's first dedicated festival.

A series of workshops involving local schools and the community have taken place in the run-up to Saturday's Canterbury Anifest. There will be a whole day of screenings, talks and music in the theatre and cinema, running from 10am to 9pm.

Kick-off the day with the chance to watch Suzie Templeton's awe-inspiring adaptation of Peter and the Wolf, in association with Screen South and Bafta. This will be followed by the chance to question a panel of industry professionals, a storyboard surgery with artist Benedict Lewis and a retrospective on the work of Bagpuss and Soup Dragon creators, Oliver Postgate and Peter Firmin. The work of South East film-makers and five schools in the Canterbury district will be screened during the afternoon.

Admission prices vary, from free to £5. Day passes cost £15/£10. To book, call the Gulbenkian Theatre box office on 01227 769075. To find out more, visit www.canterburyanifest.com.

THE NUTCRACKER

Tuesday to Saturday, November 6-10
Marlowe Theatre, Canterbury

ENTER the magical world of The Nutcracker as the classic story of love and enchantment unfolds.

Set to Tchaikovsky's famous score, the traditional tale of Clara and her magic nutcracker doll is a treat for all the family.

The Northern Ballet Theatre's new production offers a spellbinding evening of stunning dance, spectacular sets and beautiful costumes.

As the clock strikes midnight, Clara finds herself in a dream world where she must do battle with the wicked Mouse King before being whisked away on an enchanting journey.

Even ballet novices will be familiar with the wonderful music, including The Waltz of the Flowers and The Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairy.

Performances start at 7.30pm daily, with 2pm matinees on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday. Tickets are priced from £12 to £28. To book, call the box office on 01227 787787 or visit the website at www.marlowetheatre.com

SAW IV (18)

TWISTED Jigsaw and his apprentice Amanda are dead, but their legacy of terror continues. Detective Hoffman takes charge of the investigation into the murder of Detective Kerry, one of the key officers in apprehending Jigsaw. The police face one final game when SWAT Commander Rigg is abducted and thrust into a maze of Jigsaw's fiendish traps.

SICKO (12A)

CONTROVERSIAL documentary film-maker Michael Moore turns his attention to the US healthcare crisis, making clear his disdain for a system where people literally have to pay to live. Full of scathing wit, fascinating and utterly engrossing, as long as you take this large spoonful of cinematic medicine with a generous pinch of salt.

THE DARK IS RISING (12A)

AN adaptation of the second book in Susan Cooper's epic fantasy series, which plunges a 14-year old boy into the middle of a titanic battle between good and evil. Will discovers he is the last of a group of warriors who have dedicated their lives to fighting the forces of the Dark. Travelling back and forth through time, Will discovers a series of clues which lead him to a showdown with forces of unimaginable power.

Viggo's walk on wild side

■ BY EILEEN CONDON

IF you're looking for the definition of a brave actor then look no further than Viggo Mortensen. Not only does the Lord Of The Rings star perform one of the most graphic and violent fight scenes in his latest movie, he does it completely starkers.

What's more, it was entirely his decision to brawl bare in gangster flick Eastern Promises.

"The scene takes place in a steam bath where I get attacked by two guys so it would have been silly to have a towel on," explains Viggo. "This is a realistic and gritty movie so to have a scene where you're trying to avoid seeing someone's body would have been just dumb," he said.

Directed by David Cronenberg, Viggo adds that he couldn't have done the scene without the controversial film-maker.

"I also worked with him on A History of Violence and feel very safe with him," he added. "We understand each other."

The fight scene further establishes Viggo's reputation as one of the most fearless actors around. Not content with baring all for the camera, the star, who has just turned 49, also took on the might of the Russian Mafia for the movie.

In the film, Viggo plays the mysterious Russian-born Nikolai Luzhin, a driver for one of London's organised crime families. His carefully maintained existence is suddenly turned upside down when his path crosses with Anna (Naomi Watts), a midwife trying to find out the background of a Russian teenager who died giving birth.

VIEW THIS PREVIEW

yourkenttv.co.uk

Though the film is shot on location in London, Viggo took himself off to Russia for several weeks, where he learned the language and met some of the country's most disreputable mob men.

The committed actor also spent a painstaking four hours in make-up having 43 temporary tattoos transferred onto his body, ranging from a tiger, stars, skulls, daggers, a scorpion, a sailing ship, the Virgin Mary and a huge crucifix emblazoned across his chest.

"Some of the tattoos were humorous and some were quite poetic," said Viggo. "On the instep of my right foot one said 'Where are you going?' on the instep of the other foot another said 'What the hell do you care?'"

Despite his huge success, not to mention sex symbol status, Viggo is still one of the most reticent movie stars around.

Rarely seen on the red carpet, the actor lives

ROLE PLAY: In his new film Eastern Promises, actor Viggo Mortensen bares all in a violent fight scene in a steam bath away from the limelight on a vast ranch, where his 18-year-old son Henry from his marriage to singer Exene Cervenka is a regular visitor.

Viggo even managed to maintain his closely guarded privacy after his phenomenal success as Aragorn in Lord of the Rings, and remains typically laid back about the life-changing role.

"I think I just got lucky," he said of the epic trilogy.

And though he's no doubt busy immersing himself on other worlds in preparation for future roles, the enigmatic star hasn't ruled out the possibility of Aragorn's return.

"I heard talk of a Hobbit film and, yes I'm curious about it," he said. "I don't know where Aragorn would fit into that, but if it happens then Peter Jackson would be the best person to direct it."

Thailand's creature comforts

■ BY CAROLINE GAMMELL

NOT only was it my first time as an artist's assistant, but my master had a worldwide reputation to uphold – and he just happened to be an elephant.

Deep in the jungles of northern Thailand, I was handing over paints to a 17ft Asian elephant called Kongkam, who created a subliminal piece in a matter of minutes.

The finished piece of work was the most treasured memento gathered during an eight-day trip to Thailand.

Far from the gimmick I feared it might be, a day at Maesa Elephant Camp, near Chiang Mai, was simply wonderful.

After an hour of stroking and patting the assembled elephants and learning how to sit on these massive creatures without tumbling off, we embarked on a stroll up the steep muddy hill which offered spectacular views of the surrounding countryside.

After a day of getting mucky at the camp, it was time to return to our nearby solace of decadence – the Mandarin Oriental Devi Dhara.

Spread over 60 acres, this recently completed $80 million hotel was quite something.

The concept is that of an ancient city – in microcosm – one you cross a moat and pass through high walls to enter.

The ornate temples and Lanna influenced Thai structures have been painstakingly recreated and are incredibly impressive.

IMPRESSIVE SURROUNDINGS: The Mandarin Oriental Devi Dhara is a $80 million hotel spread out over 60 acres

Rooms vary from colonial style suites overlooking the pool to the more traditional Thai villas which look out over the hotel's own paddy fields. Some even have their own swimming pools.

The whole set up is undoubtedly impressive but feels slightly surreal, a million miles from the chaos of Chiang Mai, a few miles down the road. The opulence is fabulous, but it is nice to get out and about and spend at least one evening in town.

Having said that, the food in Le Grand

Lanna could be enough to keep you within the hotel, with its subtle flavours and delicacies.

One of the hotel's highlights is the Dheva spa, set on its own in the grounds and offering a spectacular array of treatments.

Spas are something Thailand's best hotels do very well. At our second location, the Sila Evason Hideaway on the island of Ko Samui, you can have your treatment in the open air, looking out to sea and listening to the waves as you enjoy a deep tissue massage.

Each room has a stunning view looking out across the Gulf of Siam and the other islands nearby. In fact, everywhere you go on the 20-acre site has a spectacular outlook.

The rooms themselves cannot be faulted. Each one is split-level and most have an infinity pool where you can splash about, again admiring the view.

Thailand is a place of contrasts and nowhere is that more apparent than moving from the laid-back islands to the frenetic pace of Bangkok.

The city, home to nine million people, is hectic, dirty, noisy and centred along the snaking Chao Praya river. It feels busy with people scurrying about their daily lives, while tourists gawp at the stunning Grand Palace and take advantage of the excellent shopping.

We stayed at the Peninsula Hotel, perched on the river, and enjoyed some of the best Thai food of the trip.

I went to Thailand with many pre-conceived and rather stereotypical ideas about what I would find. It surpassed them all and, a little heavier, I returned to the UK ready to plan my next trip.

YOUR WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY RUSSELL GRANT

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 - Feb 19)

TAKE care not to fritter away your time on useless activities or you could miss a romantic opportunity. Ask a group of friends to help promote your creative efforts. You've got great instincts when it comes to things that hit a nerve with the public. Applying to a school or arranging a trip abroad is highly favoured.

TAURUS (Apr 21 - May 21)

RESIST the urge to buy someone's affection. What this person really wants is your time and affection. Support your partner's desire to go into a more creative field. You could be given a plum assignment, too, allowing you to showcase your interpersonal skills. Make it your mission to give people the care you always want, but rarely get.

LEO (July 24 - Aug 23)

A VACATION may prove more expensive than you realise. It may be better to choose a less luxurious destination. Working from home could put some extra money in your pocket. Discuss the possibility with your boss. If you're looking for love, you could find it at a large institution like a government office, hospital, or university.

SCORPIO (Oct 24 - Nov 22)

DON'T get swept up in a buying frenzy with a friend or you could drive yourself deep into debt. Borrowing or lending money isn't advised, either. Your star power puts you in contact with some influential people. A relative could give you a generous gift of money. Trust your instincts when it comes to household matters.

PISCES (Feb 20 - Mar 20)

IT feels like a loved one is taking you for granted. It's probably because you've been spending so much time at work. You've got to adjust your schedule so that it reflects your true priorities. Talk to your boss about working from home or assuming a less prominent role. A stalled tax refund or inheritance could finally come through.

GEMINI (May 22 - Jun 22)

DWELLING on disappointments from the past could undermine a close relationship. Organising your household will make it easier to go about your daily business. Don't be afraid to get rid of the clutter. Enlist the aid of a Virgo if you're not sure where to begin. You're looking forward to some time away. Make time for a movie or play.

VIRGO (Aug 24 - Sep 23)

YOU can't afford to postpone family responsibilities any longer. People are relying on you to run some errands or provide childcare. Put your needs aside for the sake of others who have helped you in the past. Adopting a hardworking attitude will make it easier to learn new skills. This week is ideal for launching salary talks.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 23 - Dec 21)

AN authority figure's generosity may not be enough to protect you from criticism. Do your best to play by the rules this week, even if you've been given a pass in the past. Letting someone else take the credit for your efforts could ultimately work in your favour. A spiritual book or movie acts like a salve on your troubled soul.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr 20)

YOU could face challenges at work this week. If you feel like you're out of your element, ask for additional training. Your drive and determination enhances your sex appeal. Getting involved with a group of spiritually-minded people makes you more compassionate. Reach out to a business or romantic partner who needs your support.

CANCER (Jun 23 - Jul 23)

SAYING one thing and doing another could undermine your reputation. Be especially careful about promising things before they become available. Your creative juices are flowing and may prompt you to take an art class. Don't be surprised if you feel sparks between you and your instructor. Be sure to attend to household bills and chores.

LIBRA (Sep 24 - Oct 23)

BEWARE of blurting out a secret, or you could do irreparable damage to a friendship. If somebody asks for your honest opinion, give it. Assuming a thankless job could put you in line for a bonus. Pour on the charm when dealing with a love interest. Just when you thought your fairy-tale idea of romance was fading, someone sweeps you off your feet.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 - Jan 20)

YOU may underestimate the time it takes to deal with a hospital, university, or house of worship. If you need to get an official document from such a place, go armed with plenty of different forms of identification. Your extensive knowledge and experience make you a natural leader of a group. Take care to enforce the rules.

Whether you are looking for a group activity with a distinctive venue or simply want somewhere to celebrate a special occasion, Greenfields Shooting Ground is the ideal choice.

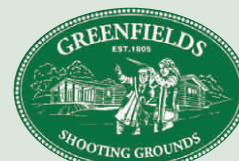

The Greenfields clubhouse is a perfect venue for birthdays, wedding receptions, anniversaries or any other events that require a sizeable venue with a fully licensed bar in an attractive location. You don't have to shoot to book it!

The clubhouse itself is a distinctive Norwegian-style wooden shooting lodge, which commands sweeping views over the surrounding countryside. It has a large deck for alfresco dining or an outdoor drink in the summer.

The lodge makes a pleasant and convivial place in which to relax and socialise with your guests at any time of the year.

We are able to provide for your catering needs, from cold buffets to barbecues.

Beeny knows the best way to climb the ladder

■ BY ANDY WELCH

"THIS might sound terrible," says Sarah Beeny, "but when I say to someone 'keep the colours neutral', it's because they have terrible taste!"

It's just one of the little nuggets of truth the presenter and homes guru throws into the conversation when talking about Property Ladder. She's certainly had enough time to collect some anecdotes too, the hugely successful Channel 4 series has been in almost full-time production since 2001.

And now it is back on Tuesday nights with the first of the new series airing last night.

There are no signs of Sarah getting tired of the format, however, as she is more excited about the new series than any of the past offerings. The main reason is the unusual conversions which make up many of the renovation projects.

"Every year, the shows really do get better," she said. "When I think back to the first couple of series, they were fairly unexciting developments. They were fun at the time, of course, but it was all pretty conventional stuff, and obvious."

"This series has some more unusual properties. I've got a lot more to say about them as well, new things to say, as we haven't done these types of houses on the show before."

Regardless of what the development is, though, the Reading-native maintains the principles of all property renovation remain the same.

"I think in any business, the ultimate goal has to be profit. Any business that takes its eye off the bottom line will go bust. You hear that time and time again."

"Profit has to drive everything you do, but that's not to say it's the only thing that matters."

ON THE GO: Property Ladder presenter Sarah Beeny has also set up an online dating site called mysinglefriend.com

You also must enjoy the process of making the profit and enjoy the product," she said.

As well as revealing a number of truths about the show – Sarah likes some developers a lot more than others, doesn't understand why people attempt renovations on limited budgets and questions some of the decisions made – there are also a number of misconceptions about the programme that she's only too happy to put straight.

"People always say no-one listens to my advice on the programme, but they do, you just don't see or notice it. If someone is agreeing with me or doing something well, then it isn't an issue and we don't talk about it. I'm not going to keep asking someone whether they're agreeing with me or not!"

Also, contrary to popular belief, Sarah is not constantly with child. She can go from her normal svelte self to looking like she's seconds away from birth in the space of a scene, but that's due to the way in which the shows are filmed. They're made over the course of a year, sometimes more, capturing the presenter at different stages of her two pregnancies.

"Yes, it looks like I'm always pregnant. I can't believe I've only got two," she said. "It feels like I've got about six from watching the shows back. But certain developments go better together in a programme than others, so the bosses choose different ones."

Away from Property Ladder, which is basically an extension of her day job as a practising property developer (along with her husband and brother, she owns a development company), Sarah is a keen matchmaker to her friends.

This later turned into another job when she and a group of friends set up mysinglefriend.com, an online dating site where friends describe their single pals, rather than having singletons describing themselves.

It's now a well-known, established site, but it could see Sarah becoming the new Cilla when she fronts a dating show next year.

"We did a pilot last year, but it wasn't particularly successful," she says. "We're up and running again now though, so watch this space. Dating show formats are hard to come up with and are inevitably compared to Blind Date, but we think we've found the amber nectar."

PROPERTY NEWS

Lords ruling teaches important land lessons

A HOUSE OF LORDS case has highlighted the importance of leaving nothing to chance when buying a property.

It confirmed the 2006 decision of the Court of Appeal that when a piece of land is landlocked (it has no right of access over adjoining land so cannot be lawfully accessed by its owner), there is no automatic right to have a right of way 'of necessity' over adjoining land.

The case involved land bought from a landowner who had originally retained it when he sold adjoining land to the council.

The landowner had failed to negotiate any right of access across the land sold, leaving the retained land landlocked.

Since at the time of the original sale there had been no common intention there should be a right of access over the land sold, the Lords declined to grant a right of way.

Nicholas Kingsley Smith, of Kingsley Smith Solicitors LLP, said: "This case illustrates how important it is to be careful when dealing with transactions in land. The absence of the right to access the land means that to access his land, the landowner will need to negotiate from a position of considerable weakness with one of the adjoining landowners to secure a right of way."

First-time buyers given great deal from Barratt

DREAM START allows first-time buyers to purchase a new home for just 75 per cent of the purchase price. The remaining 25 per cent is deferred, without interest or rent, for up to 10 years or until the house is resold. Importantly, the buyer owns 100 per cent of the property.

To help first-time buyers more, no deposit is required and Barratt pays the stamp duty and legal fees up to £1,000. Carpets and kitchen appliances are included within the price.

Ann Moriarty, sales director at Barratt Kent, said: "I understand the difficulties that young people face in buying their new home. Opportunities like Dream Start can make a real difference. We can only offer a limited number of homes at each site under Dream Start and the last time Barratt ran this scheme we were overwhelmed by requests."

Dream Start is available on selected one- and two-bedroom apartments and three-bedroom houses at five Barratt developments in Kent: Riverside Plaza in Maidstone; Leybourne Park in Aylesford; West Hill Park in Dartford; Eden Village in Sittingbourne; and Connaught Park in Tunbridge Wells.

BONE OF CONTENTION: The controversial Home Improvement Packs have come under attack from Conservative MPs, who say that the documents don't work effectively

HIPS group attacks Tory 'scaremongering'

PROPERTY market experts have hit back at Conservative claims that the new home improvement packs (HIPS) are not working.

They say claims that trials have shown the documents can be used to conceal information are false.

Mike Ockenden, director-general of the Association of Home Information Pack Providers, launched the broadside this week.

He said: "The Conservatives are purely speculating that the information from last year's trials [of HIPS] is negative.

"While I can confirm that we have not received the results, anecdotal evidence suggests to us the feedback will be broadly positive.

"The Conservative reaction is just the usual politicking and scaremongering that we have come to expect from them about HIPS."

■ BY TIM JOHNSON

The packs are designed to speed-up the home-buying process by making sure the seller has information about their property ready before starting to market the property for sale.

The packs include the following documents:

- An index of contents
- A sale statement summarising terms of sale
- A New Homes Warranty, where appropriate
- Evidence of title for registered properties
- An Energy Performance Certificate

The following documents are also compulsory, but they can be added to the pack

later if there are delays in obtaining them:

- Evidence of title for unregistered properties
- Searches, ie local authority enquiries and a drainage and water search
- Where appropriate, commonhold information including a copy of the commonhold community statement
- Where appropriate, leasehold information including a copy of the lease, information on service charges and insurance

Mr Ockenden said the HIPS initiative must now be followed through by the Government.

He said: "This is why it is so frustrating that Government has not completed the roll-out of HIPS. We have seen the market settle down well in the roll-out of HIPS for four- and three-bedroom homes and feedback to date has been very positive."

MOTORS NEWS

Past and present boost for Caterham's sales

DAYS may be shorter, but crisp mornings and blue skies have helped demand for new and used examples of the Kent-built Caterham Seven roadster.

Sales of used Sevens are up 25 per cent on 2006. Caterham says this may be due to the new Ford Sigma engine version boosting nostalgic interest in outgoing K-Series models like the Superlight R300.

Prices range from low mileage 1.4 105bhp Classics for as little as £9,950 to a two-year-old, range-topping CSR260 for £34,000.

Caterham has sold 12,000 of the lightweight sports car since 1973 and the design is currently celebrating 50 years.

Rugged new Seat has power and practicality

KENT Seat dealers have something different to offer with the launch of the new Altea Freetrack – a genuine sporting 4x4 cum people carrier.

It offers increased ride height and tough-looking styling, plus plenty of power; two models are offered, the 2.0-litre TSI petrol and 2.0-litre TDI diesel, priced at £20,495 and £21,395 respectively.

The newcomers feature a multimedia system with roof-mounted seven-inch screen that can link to DVD and MP3 players, video games and laptop computer.

New power-packed C2 baby from Citroën

HOT hatch and economy car are rarely paired descriptions, but Citroën claims to have managed this with its new 110bhp C2 1.6HDi VTS performance supermini.

Costing just £10,995 at the moment, this punchy little powerhouse – it delivers 80 per cent more pulling power than its petrol-powered stablemate – can reach 60mph in just over nine seconds.

But it is capable of averaging more than 60mpg and delivers CO2 emissions of just 119g/km, qualifying it for Band-B road tax.

LOOKING GOOD: Mercedes has shed its old conservative image with the striking CLS, a sleek four-door coupé which combines style, power and comfort

Big Mercedes CLS has definite feel-good factor

SOMETIMES you can set aside normal factors and go with just one when road testing a car.

It can be summed up as the 'feel-good factor'. You ask yourself: "Would this car lift my soul at first sight in the morning before you even climb behind the wheel?"

The Mercedes CLS is one of those cars.

Admittedly, it is hard to understand why Mercedes decided to make this sleek four-door sports coupé in the first place, when it had models enough to fill niches within niches.

On the other hand, it is a 'halo model' to outshine all others; if you doubted that Mercedes-Benz had shed its old conservative image, this is all the proof needed.

Our test car was the 3.5-litre V6 – the junior petrol model, but still capable of 0-62mph in 6.7 seconds.

It feels and sounds as good as the swooping bodywork suggests, but there is also the bonkers V8 AMG version with its 0-62mph in 4.5 seconds to get the adrenaline pumping.

The canny buy of the range though is the 3.0-litre diesel, with a comparatively modest seven-second sprint time, smooth running and an average of around 35-40mpg.

Whichever you go for though, a slick-shifting seven-speed auto 'box adds to the refined feel of the car and can be set in 'sport' or 'comfort' mode – the latter shifts up earlier rather than holding onto gears for maximum acceleration.

Using the more realistic sport mode – this is a sports coupé after all – the CLS's excellent chassis can be further exploited by using manual selection, though the intelligent auto is good enough to leave for most driving.

The swooping lines of the exterior are skillfully carried over to the interior through sculpted doors and the sweep of the centre console front and back – the car is a four-door 'for four' with two deep and comfortable sports seats in the back even if you have to duck a bit to get into them.

For a sporting car there is also an impressive amount of storage and luggage space.

CLS prices start at £43,962.

USED CAR ROUND-UP: OUR PICK FROM A KEY SECTOR

COMPACT 4x4s

IT'S not hard to see why the compact 4x4 or sports utility vehicle (SUV) sector has boomed in the past few years. By combining trendy 4x4 looks, extra grip, varying degrees of off-roading ability and high-riding MPV versatility – many models have removable or flexible seating systems – carmakers have hit several bull's eyes at the same time. Couple that with the fact hi-tech diesel engines mean owners can buy image without having to empty their wallets to run the car, and the compact SUV package is hard to resist.

TOYOTA RAV4

TOYOTA'S original RAV4 – the so-called GTI off-roader – revolutionised the small 4x4 sector. The Japanese brand recognised that few 4x4s actually went anywhere where they needed the extra grip, so it concentrated instead on maximising on-road performance and comfort – the RAV was a huge success. The second-generation car was chunkier and roomier and offered a choice of diesel and petrol, removable rear seats and an even better driving experience.

LAND ROVER FREELANDER

TRUE to its Land Rover heritage, the Freelander is a serious, compact SUV off-road but also refined on-road. The 'country set' cachet of the badge also helped make it one of the best-sellers in its class. It sometimes suffers on the reliability front but does offer three- and five-door versions and a range of engine options, from an everyday 1.8 petrol to lively 2.5 V6 unit and including one of the best turbodiesels in the business.

HYUNDAI SANTA FE

HYUNDAI came through on the blind side with this one. The Korean marque's cars had been pretty forgettable until then, but the value-for-money Santa Fe looked and played the part, without being a serious off-roader. The interior was spacious and a rugged diesel engine option helped with everyday running costs. Hyundai's famous five-year warranty would then have clinched the deal for most buyers. If the budget will stretch, it is worth looking for the second-generation car.

Maidstone

Kent Safe Schools have successfully secured a bid to support permanently excluded young people through alternative education. We have developed three innovative projects designed to meet the educational needs of permanently excluded Year 10/11 pupils and develop the delivery of the Alternative Curriculum Programmes within an off-school site setting.

Through providing a positive intervention strategy, we are in a position to support a number of vulnerable young people at key stage 4, both in and out of education. All young people, but particularly those who are "at risk", need to develop particular knowledge, positive behaviours and pro-social attitudes and skills if they are to benefit from school, college or training, cope positively with the developmental tasks of adolescence and take on the responsibilities of adulthood. They need to be helped to gain employment or become otherwise positively involved in society.

Supporting the Project Officer in the running of the provision, you will possess a good understanding of educational issues and experience of working with this complex and difficult to reach, client group.

This post is subject to an Enhanced Disclosure Application to the Criminal Records Bureau.

Sales Administrator

Our recruitment section just got bigger

With the launch of eight new local newspapers, local websites and web tv, plus the award winning Kent on Sunday and Kentish Saturday Observer, our recruitment section just gets bigger and bigger.

We are now looking to recruit a highly organised and experienced sales administrator to support our recruitment sales department. You will need excellent Word, Excel and Database management skills and an eye for detail.

This is a key position in the department and carries a significant level of responsibility producing reports, the input of sales bookings, client liaison, preparing promotional mailings and correspondence, managing diaries and general organisation of the office and team related meetings, schedules, and files. You must be able to work calmly under pressure and to deadline in a fast paced and lively environment.

In return we offer:

- Good basic starting salary of £14,000
- Performance related bonus
- Five weeks holiday a year

Due to the location of our office in Smeeth near Ashford you will need your own transport.

For an opportunity to join the KOS Media recruitment team, please call Christine Davidson, Recruitment Manager on 01303 817170 or email your CV and covering note to christine.davidson@kosmedia.co.uk

2 full time temporary posts to cover maternity leave

Both vacancies are for 37 hours per week - until September 2008

Salary £11,889 - £14,871

We are looking for 2 energetic and enthusiastic people to provide a high quality public service and efficient technical and administrative support to Planning Staff.

Planning Technical Assistant

Ref: 612DS8

Duties include assisting with the processing of planning applications & appeals, the completion of Land Charge Searches, advising the public on the submission of applications and provision of site histories. Both the planning application and land charge systems are computerised.

The postholder will be part of a team, which is responsible for the maintenance of planning data on the Council's Geographical Information System (GIS).

The successful applicant must be numerate, articulate, computer literate and it would be desirable to be able to demonstrate a familiarity with GIS and/or conventional maps. Education to GCSE Grade C or above, or equivalent, in English and Mathematics is essential.

Previous experience in a technical/administrative support role to planning officers would be an advantage.

Planning Administrative Assistant

Ref: 602DS8

As a member of the Planning Administration section, you will provide administration/clerical support to professional planners; the major task being the processing of planning applications.

Duties will also include liaison with members of the public (and/or their representatives), statutory bodies (eg central Government Departments) and other sections of the Council.

Previous experience of processing planning applications using a computerised system and a recognised word processing qualification are desirable. Confidence, numeracy and communication skills are also required.

You need to be able to work under pressure and to deadlines whilst still maintaining a high level of accuracy. You must also be patient, tactful and tolerant and work both on your own initiative and as a part of a small team.

For further information contact Human Resources, Swale Borough Council, Swale House, East Street, Sittingbourne, Kent, ME10 3HT. Telephone Sittingbourne (01795) 417414 (24 hour voice mail), quoting appropriate reference number.

Customer Support Assistants

£13,619 - £15,440 p.a.

Our Library Service has a lot more to offer than just books. With reading groups, talks and exhibitions, it offers a range of activities for every age group - from Baby Bounce and Rhyme sessions to internet classes for older people.

To deliver all this, we need the right people serving our customers. While relevant experience would come in handy, it isn't essential - it's much more important that you're friendly, enthusiastic and approachable.

We offer good training and development opportunities, and the chance to work at locations across our area. We've got libraries in towns and villages, as well as mobile facilities and services.

If you'd like to find out more, we're hosting Open Days at four different libraries across our area. Book a 20-minute slot, and we'll give you a tour of the library and a mini preliminary interview.

To book your slot or to find out more, please call
01622 696517

JOB TITLE:
Assistant Coastal Engineer
LOCATION:
Folkestone
SALARY:
£20,004 to £24,444 + Benefits
COMPANY:
Shepway District Council
At Shepway we are facing exciting challenges and require the right staff to achieve the delivery of a number of quality projects. Do you have the qualities and skills to meet this challenge? The district is undergoing major change with a range of projects to improve the quality of life for its residents and visitors including further environmental improvements to the coastline. The Council wishes to recruit an Assistant Coastal Engineer who will work with a team of engineers to deliver such projects as the Strategic Regional Coastal Monitoring Programme, the Coronation Parade Refurbishment Scheme and the Beach Management Scheme. As a member of the Project Team, you will play a supporting role in the Council's key coastal projects and assist with other projects when required. Responsibilities include carrying out GPS beach surveys, producing and amending technical drawings, helping with data collection for grant aid claims from central government and supporting the Project Team. The successful applicant will have a sound understanding of coastal processes and a good working knowledge of land surveying, have an interest in engineering, and be willing to take part in GPS based coastal monitoring. Shepway District Council is a pro-active, forward thinking authority, with a strong commitment to its customers and staff. For an informal discussion, please call Simon Brooks, Senior Coastal Engineer on 01303 853305. Application details can be downloaded at www.shepway.gov.uk

We have developed three innovative projects designed to meet the educational needs of permanently excluded Year 10/11 pupils and develop the delivery of the Alternative Curriculum Programmes within an off-school site setting. Through providing a positive intervention strategy, we are in a position to support a number of vulnerable young people at key stage 4, both in and out of education. All young people, but particularly those who are "at risk", need to develop particular knowledge, positive behaviours and pro-social attitudes and skills if they are to benefit from school, college or training, cope positively with the developmental tasks of adolescence and take on the responsibilities of adulthood. They need to be helped to gain employment or become otherwise positively involved in society. Supporting the Project Officer in the running of the provision, you will possess a good understanding of educational issues and experience of working with this complex and difficult to reach, client group. This post is subject to an Enhanced Disclosure Application to the Criminal Records Bureau. For an informal discussion about this post, please contact Jim Connolly on 07740 183 931.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Move to bring freight back to Channel Tunnel

EUROTUNNEL has decided to halve the cost of taking freight through the Channel Tunnel. The move is in a bid to bring traffic away from the ferries.

The average toll for a train of freight will be £3,000 from the start of next year, down from the current £6,000.

Eurotunnel's freight business has fallen over recent years, down from 3million tonnes in 1997 to just over 1m this year. The company blamed the fall on a growing lack of competitiveness in relation to the ferry companies – partly caused by its increased security costs.

A spokesman said the reduced prices had "considerable potential" to reverse its downward trend of rail freight.

Networking breakfast chance to pick up tips

THE Kent Invicta Chamber of Commerce launches the first of its new weekly networking business group next week.

The Business Breakfast Group is being organised by the business support organisation – which covers Maidstone, Ashford, Canterbury and Thanet – and gets under way on November 9.

The meetings will include 15-minute advice sessions on a variety of topics, including how to increase sales and cash flow, and top marketing tips.

The first is staged at the Boys' Hall in Willesborough, Ashford, between 7.30am-9am and open to members only.

For full details, email events@kentinvictachamber.co.uk.

Orders growing despite financial instability

MANUFACTURERS in the South East have become more pessimistic about the business environment in the wake of the credit crunch, according to the Confederation of British Industry.

However, the latest quarterly CBI Industrial Trends survey shows that despite the drop in sentiment, orders grew strongly and there is little evidence so far of the recent global financial instability.

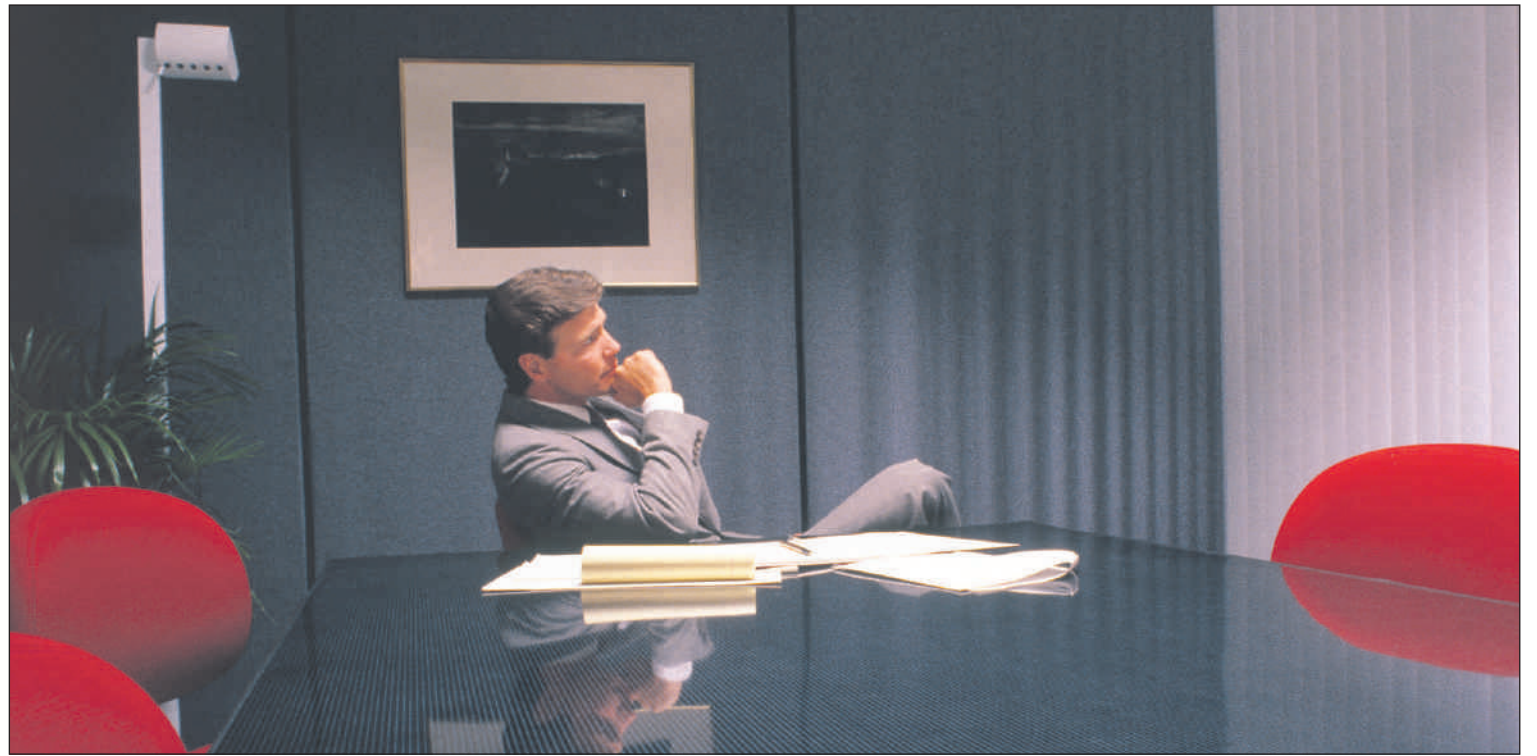

But Richard Brownlow-Davies, the CBI's South East assistant regional director, said: "There are tentative signs the pace of demand and output growth will edge lower in coming months."

FOOD FOR THOUGHT: Shadow directorships resemble those of actual directors, which means they can share the civil liabilities in the event of a corporate insolvency

Danger lurking in the shadows

MATTHEW DUGDALE, of Kingsley Smith Solicitors, explains why taking up the role of non-executive director could leave you with more than you bargained for...

THE thought of a nice cosy non-executive directorship (NED) may be appealing for some people, and certainly in the past many were regarded as undemanding stipends.

However, the role of non-executives is being increasingly put under the microscope when companies fail and legislation coming in this month further ups the ante for NEDs.

This much is well known.

What is less well known is that even where the appointment to the board is unofficial, the same dangers are present.

The risk of being considered a shadow director depends on your role in the company. If you act as a director – in the sense that your instructions or directions are normally acted upon by the company – you are for some purposes in the same legal position as 'proper' directors of the company.

People in this position are known as 'shadow directors'.

Unfortunately for such people, danger lurks in shadow directorships because the main way in which their position resembles that of actual directors is they can share the civil liabilities of other directors in the event of a corporate insolvency.

This may lead to them being required to contribute funds to pay creditors of the company if it becomes insolvent.

They also face the possibility of being disqualified from acting as a director by the Department of Trade and Industry, where their conduct warrants such a ruling.

If you are asked to be a non-executive director or to participate at the decision-making level of a company's management as a consultant or advisor, take care – especially if the company is in financial difficulty.

Recently, a shadow director of a company was ordered to repay more than £850,000 plus compound interest after the company with which he was involved went into insolvent liquidation.

For a shadow director, ignorance of one's responsibilities is no defence.

Directors who fail to take actions to protect the interests of shareholders or who behave improperly can face significant penalties.

The best advice is always to seek legal advice before you take the plunge.

City record two wins in Kent cup

CANTERBURY City cruised past Whitstable Taverners in the Kent Junior Cup with a comfortable 4-0 win at Canterbury High School on Friday night.

Royston Gough and Scott Lawford gave City a 2-0 lead at the break.

Gough doubled his tally in the second half, with Lee Austin completing the scoring with his ninth of the season from a tight angle.

The reserves joined them in the next round with a 5-0 demolition of Feeneys.

The first team are back in league action on Saturday with a trip to struggling Lanes End as they look to extend their 10-match unbeaten run.

Gillingham captain Ian Cox reveals the mood in the dressing room

Mavericks trio to join GB squad

THREE East Kent Mavericks players will attend a two-day training camp with the Great Britain squad at Crystal Palace this weekend.

American football players, Dudley Ross, Alistair Jenkins and Dave Squires have attended similar sessions before.

Ross said: "What's great is the chance to eat, sleep and breathe football for two days, and the level of intensity really forces you to improve."

The call-up capped a good week for Squires, who was one of four Maverick players to attain a level two coaching badge.

"I'm looking forward to coaching and sharing what I've learnt," he said.

The Mavericks are holding another open training session at Chaucer Technical School this Sunday, for anyone interested in trying the game.

The day starts at 10.30am.

UP AND AT 'EM: Herne Bay's centre-back Roy Guiver (number five) gets up above the Erith defence during Saturday's goalless draw, which saw Bay return to league action

Draw a fair result as Bay show better form

HERNE Bay shook off their recent lacklustre form to secure a well-earned point away at Erith & Belvedere.

In an entertaining game on an immaculate Park View Road pitch, both sides had chances to win the game. However, neither side deserved to leave without a point, so a draw was a fair result.

Bay manager Jason Lillis was happy with the draw. He said: "It is definitely one point gained. We haven't had a good couple of games, but the lads responded well and put in a good performance. I think everyone played well, it was a team performance, but Nathan Eastwood and Martin Chandler stood out and defensively did really well."

Bay started with a changed formation with Ben Smith making his debut in a five-man midfield, with Luke Harvey starting on the bench.

Bay struggled for the first 20 minutes to find any rhythm as the Deres took the game to them.

FOOTBALL

■ BY YOURCANTERBURY REPORTER

Gradually, as with other games this season, Bay got stronger as the game progressed. Smith took control of the midfield, breaking up the hosts' play and creating chances – none more so than when he put Sean Bremner through, but his shot hit the upright with the keeper beaten.

In the second half, Bay took the game to the home side.

Chandler was more dominant in midfield as he exploited the space in the middle.

Nathan Eastwood was an attacking force down the right and forced Deres keeper, Grant Wallis, into a terrific save, turning his fierce shot over the bar.

Minutes later, Eastwood whipped in a cross across the face of the goal, narrowly missing

Harvey's head in front of an open goal.

In the closing minutes, Smith fired in a shot from 30-yards, which brought the best out of Wallis, diving full length to his left.

The result kept Herne Bay in contention in the Premier Division. With the team's good cup runs, the game was only Bay's second league game in seven weeks, and they have up to five games in hand on the teams above.

Lillis said: "Going so long without a league game does put you off your stride a little and we lose focus, but I don't use that as an excuse. Every game you go out to win whatever the competition. We are still very much in touch, if we can keep getting results like this one, then we will be there or thereabouts."

Lillis' side played VCD Athletic in the League Cup last night. See www.yourcanterbury.co.uk for the full match report.

• Bay drew 2-2 with Sevenoaks last Wednesday in the League Cup, with goals from Nathan Eastwood and Dave Soutan.

HARDWORKING: Lucy Stewart (centre) was in a back four with an average age under 20

Young Ladies show true grit

CANTERBURY Ladies secured a valuable away point as a youthful defence kept out one of the Premier Division's best sides.

Both teams were hit by international call-ups, with Canterbury missing four players and Leicester eight, and at times the game descended into scrappy hockey.

The hosts enjoyed the majority of possession and territory, but could not find a way past Becky Duggan in the visitors' goal.

With Simon Triggs away, Martin Southam assumed coaching duties and he was pleased with how the changed side performed.

He said: "We set out with an aim of trying to prevent them scoring, so we are pleased that we managed it – I think if we had been offered a point at the start of the day we would have taken it.

HOCKEY

Leicester Ladies 0

"Duggan did a really good job. She made a number of good saves and organised the defensive line well to stop the ball getting to her. She was our strongest player. They had lots of possession, but we defended well."

The back four of Jenna Wiles, Lucy Stewart, Georgina Kemsley and Alice Brown had an average age of less than 20, but they stood up to the Leicester onslaught like veterans.

Without Hayley Brown and Cathy Gilliat-Smith in attack, the forward line lacked a cutting-edge, but overall a point was a fair result.

Canterbury welcome second-placed Slough to Polo Farm this weekend, which Southam knows will be a stern test.

He said: "They are a good side so I think it will be a really tough fixture. Playing at home we have quite a good record so hopefully we can build on what we did at Leicester and add a bit more up front."

Push-back is at 12.30pm on Saturday.

Crusaders' last-gasp cup victory

BASKETBALL

BY DAVID PRITCHARD

Kent Crusaders 81

STEVE Findley scored a three-pointer with two seconds remaining as Crusaders completed an astonishing comeback to beat the Cannons in the Patron's Cup.

A second consecutive win looked unlikely as the home side trailed by 10 points with less than three minutes to go, but the team produced a 13-2 scoring run to overhaul the hosts in dramatic fashion.

Coach Mads Olesen said after the game: "It is a great feeling to come away with a win."

"We played a good first half, but a very poor third quarter put us a long way down, but we showed guts and determination to come back – it's one of those games you don't see a lot."

Cannons were left rueing two missed foul shots in the final minute which would have sealed the win.

Mike Webber was the top scorer with 20 points and five rebounds.

After a shaky start to the season, Olesen is delighted with the way things are going.

He said: "The thing about the team is we have a lot of guys coming in and doing well."

"One of our weaknesses last year was finishing games, but we have worked on it in training and we are going in the right direction, starting to play as a team."

The win kept Crusaders' faint hopes alive of qualifying for the knock-out stages of the Patron's Cup.

They must beat Cardiff Celts in the final game on November 25 and hope other results go their way.

Crusaders begin league action on Saturday with a home game against Leicester Warriors.

Tip-off at the Body and Mind Leisure Centre is at 7.30pm.

Town's injury-time equaliser

EVEN STEVENS: Steven Lloyd struck in the 96th minute to level the score

WHITSTABLE Town needed a 96th minute equaliser to extend their unbeaten league run to four games, but boss Marc Seager was left frustrated by his team's unpredictable performance.

Steven Lloyd scored a header with the last touch of the game to spare the Oystermen's blushes against a poor Molesey side.

Seager said: "The game was a non-entity. We were a bit flat, which is another example of our inconsistency, we have been doing well lately but it was as if we took a couple of steps back."

"I was disappointed with our work rate and we lacked a bit of quality. It is definitely two points dropped, but if you are behind with a couple of minutes then you are happy to come away with a point."

"I take my hat off to the boys because they kept plugging away, it takes a lot for them to keep going. It is a great attitude to score late on – we did it a lot last year and we are doing it again this season."

Molesey led with a goal after 25 minutes and had chances to put the game beyond the home side. Their profligacy cost them, as the hosts made the most of a lengthy injury time to prevent the Surrey side from securing a win.

Whitstable played Ashford Town at the Homelands Stadium last night. For a full match report see www.yourcanterbury.co.uk.

• A Steve Marshall goal was enough to beat Sittingbourne last Tuesday in the Kent Senior Cup. The game ended on a sour note when Rob Thomas damaged ankle ligaments. He is expected to be out for six weeks.

Rugby thriller ends in defeat by one point

WHISTABLE RFC lost 15-14 in an exciting match against Crowborough at the Chaucer Ground on Saturday.

Playing excellent rugby, Whitstable took control in the first 20 minutes, with a try from Ciaran Dean and a penalty from Rob Dengate.

But two calamitous mistakes before half-time led to Crowborough tries.

Dengate scored two penalties after the break but Whitstable could not grab a score to win in the face of an impressive defence.

Young stars selected for county's under-16 squad

CANTERBURY City youngsters Dan Langiano and Adam Woolcott have been selected for Kent's under-16 squad.

The pair are part of City's successful under-16 team, which is undefeated in six competitive games so far this season.

They will play alongside talented youngsters from more established sides, including Dover Athletic, Dartford and Ebbsfleet.

The team's first game is against Sussex at Faversham Town's Salters Lane ground on Sunday, kick-off 1pm.

Jones lines up with international All-Stars

KENT keeper Geraint Jones played with Shane Warne and Brian Lara in an All-Star team at the Hong Kong Sixes last weekend.

The former England keeper was brought in to replace Pakistan all-rounder Shahid Afridi who is playing for his country.

The tournament consisted of five-overs-a-side matches, where all five fielders must bowl one eight-ball over.

The All-Star team lit up the tournament, scoring 120 runs against Bangladesh in their opening game, losing one wicket.

Canterbury slump to new low with defeat

CANTERBURY RFC put in their worst performance for several seasons as they lost 22-0 at home to Ealing.

Missing fly-half Sam Rasch and five of their pack to injury, Canterbury were poor as they slumped to their second consecutive defeat.

The hosts had two tries ruled out for a forward pass and foot in touch in the first half, but Ealing deservedly won the game with a dominant second half display.

The result saw Canterbury slip to fourth ahead of Saturday's trip to Lydney.
